Show Me Express features time-sensitive information about State Library programs and current news of interest to the Missouri library community.

Our CE calendar has transferred to WebJunction-MO

You can now find listings of training opportunities from the State Library, Missouri Library Network Corporation, MOREnet, KCMLIN and others in a new convenient home on the WebJunction Missouri site. Each training provider's listing provides the basics of each offering and links to their appropriate registration page. Go to mo.webjunction.org/catalog, and click on the linked term "Missouri Continuing Education Calendar" to check it out.

You can also link to a number of other available online training sessions via the mo.webjunction.org/catalog portal. Courses for both basic and advanced learning cover a wide variety of subjects, for example, technology hardware and software, Web design, customer service, marketing, readers' advisory and adult services. But wait, there's more! Library staff and trustees approved as WebJunction Missouri affiliates have access to courses offered at a discounted rate. For instructions on joining WebJunction and becoming an affiliated member, visit <http://mo.webjunction.org/member-guides>.

Need another set of Adult Summer Reading materials?

The State Library has extra copies of the 2010 Collaborative Summer Library Program Adult Manual and accompanying DVD, which includes "Water Your Mind-Read" art work and programming for this summer's adult summer reading program. These adult materials were included in our recent children's and teen summer reading program mailing to Missouri public libraries. If you need one or more copies of the adult program manual and/or DVD, contact Adult Services Consultant Ann Roberts at 800-325-0131, ext.5 or ann.roberts@sos.mo.gov. Please note, this summer reading program, which is restricted to public libraries, only has limited licensing to the artwork and programming through September 1, 2010.

Connecting 'tweens' and library space science resources

The Library Center in Springfield will be hosting a NASA a space science workshop on Tues. and Wed. May 4 and 5. NASA and Lunar and Planetary Institute educators are offering an opportunity to learn about the upcoming Juno mission, Jupiter and our solar system's history. This free, two-day workshop will share space-science information, resources and demonstrations for developing hands-on library programming appropriate for youths age 9 through 13 and their families. Attendance is limited; stipends may be available to offset travel costs. Go to <http://www.lpi.usra.edu/forum/education/viewtopic.php?f=18&t=81> and link to the attached workshop invitation pdf for more information about the workshop and to register by March 15, 2010 deadline.

As an added note, NASA is also offering public libraries a chance to acquire an original space artifact. Visit <http://www.ims.gov/news/2010/012110.shtm> for more details, eligibility requirements and instructions on how to view the available objects.
